

Q3 Weekly Reading Letter B Example

Dear Mrs. C,

This week I am reading Facing the Lion by Joseph Lemasolai Lekuton. The first strategy I used was connecting. I made lots of connections with this book. First, I've been close to a lion, too, except it wasn't eating; it was sleeping (15). Next, I've been to Kenya and met members of the Maasai tribe (9). I camped out in the middle of nowhere once on my way from Albuquerque to Denver. I've never seen so many stars (12).

The second strategy I used was evaluating. I think it's important when Lemasolai says that he has made a decision he is proud of and he feels like a warrior (14). I think he will also be haunted by his choice not to get help when he was given the chance, but he ran when he saw the lion (15, 17). The Maasai walk everywhere like it's nothing (10). They must have really strong bodies.

I really like this book.

Sincerely,

Kiernan